

Responding to the needs of modern space with great diversity

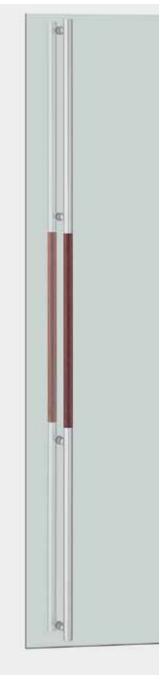

The door handle is the point where people initially encounter space. Each ELMES Door handle is a complete architectural entity in and of itself and is designed with co-ordination of the entire space in mind. We offer a variety second to none; a complete selection, such as elegant, modern and distinctive types, to suite a variety of tastes in response to architectural imagery and pursue the latest features according to the needs of the times. With an even richer line-up of ELMES products enjoy the beautiful, finely crafted forms and the comfort that is felt at the moment of touch.
